CONDITIONS OF SALE.

I. THE highest Bidder to be the Buyer; and if any dispute arise between two or more Bidders, the Lot so in dispute shall be immediately put up again and re-sold.

II. No person to advance less than 1*s.*; above Five Pounds, 5*s.*; and so on in proportion.

III. The Purchasers to give in their names and Places of Abode, and to pay down 5*s.* in the Pound, or more, in part of payment, or the whole of the Purchase-Money, if required; in default of which, the Lot or Lots so purchased to be immediately put up again and re-sold.

IV. The Lots to be taken away and paid for, whether genuine and authentic or not, with all faults and errors of description, at the Buyer's expense and risk, within Two Days from the Sale; Messrs. Christie, Manson and Woods not being responsible for the correct description, genuineness, or authenticity of, or any fault or defect in, any Lot, and making no warranty whatever.

V. To prevent inaccuracy in delivery, and inconvenience in the settlement of the Purchases, no Lot can on any account be removed during the time of Sale; and the remainder of the Purchase-Money must absolutely be paid on the delivery.

VI. Upon failure of complying with the above Conditions, the Money deposited in part of payment shall be forfeited; all Lots uncleared within the time aforesaid shall be re-sold by public or private Sale, and the deficiency (if any) attending such re-sale shall be made good by the defaulter at this Sale.

The British Red Cross Society and the Order of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem in England wish to point out that Messrs. Christie, Manson & Woods are conducting the Sale without remuneration, and consequently the entire proceeds will be paid over to the Societies.

Messrs. Christie, Manson & Woods will be pleased to bid on behalf of anyone wishing to make purchases at this Sale.

Messrs. Christie, Manson & Woods wish to acknowledge the assistance so kindly given them, and at the same time to record their grateful thanks to Messrs. Henry Sotheran & Co., 43 Piccadilly, W., for cataloguing the Books, Autographs, and Manuscripts; Messrs. Spink and Sons, Ltd., 17 Piccadilly, W., and 6 King Street, St. James's, S.W., for cataloguing the Coins and Medals; Mr. A. Blackborne, 39 South Audley Street, W., for cataloguing the Lace; Messrs. 1955 ANDRÉ (John, Major, hanged by the Americans as a Spy). A.L.S., 1¼ pp. 4to. 11 P.M. 18th June, 1780, to Mr. Chew, a most interesting example of a RARE AUTOGRAPH. [1606]

"We hear Arnold the Rebel General is supposed on his way to take the Command in Connecticut, and that he is expected from West Point to New Haven daily. If you can send person to watch whether he travels that Road or goes to New Haven it will give an item of schemes in that Quarter."

Contemporary endorsements state that this Letter was sent as an apparent Blank Sheet over some newspapers, and was then chemically treated to reveal the writing; that it was received on June 19th, and two hours later two men were despatched to carry out the writer's instructions. They were advanced one guinea each, and were to have four guineas more on performing the service effectually.

1975 BRONTË (CHARLOTTE) A.L.S., "C. BELL," 1½ pp. 8vo, Aug. 24th, 1847, to MESSRS. SMITH, ELDER & CO., BEING THE ACTUAL LETTER SENT WITH THE MS. OF JANE EYRE; A MOST INTERESTING RELIC. [2783]

"I now send you per Rail—a M.S. entitled 'Jane Eyre,' a novel in 3 vols. by Currer Bell. . . . It is better in future to address Mr. Currer Bell—under cover to Miss Brontë, Haworth, Bradford, Yorks —as there is a risk of letters otherwise directed, not reaching me at present—To save trouble I enclose an envelope."

Presented by G. Murray Smith, Esq.

1976 BRONTË (CHARLOTTE) A.L.S., "CURRER BELL," 1½ pp. 8vo, Dec. 10th, 1847, to MESSRS. SMITH, ELDER & Co., expressing her appreciation of their dealings with her, and acknowledging receipt of £100 [for JANE EYRE]. [2783]

". . . Having already expressed my sense of your kind and upright conduct, I can now only say that I trust you will always have reason to be as well content with me as I am with you. If the results of any future exertions I may be able to make should prove agreeable and advantageous to you, I shall be well satisfied, and it would be a serious source of regret to me if I thought you ever had reason to repent being my publishers."—etc.

Presented by G. Murray Smith, Esq.

1979 Brooke (Rupert) Home, Original Holograph MS. of a Poem of 4 Verses, signed. [3714]

"I came back late and tired last night
Into my little room
To the long chair and the fire light
And comfortable gloom.

But as I entered softly in
I saw a woman there,
The line of neck and cheek and chin,
The darkness of her hair,
The form of one I did not know
Sitting in my chair."

1987 BURNS (ROBERT) OCCASIONAL ADDRESS—spoken by Miss Fontenelle on her Benefit night, the Original Holograph MS., 3 pp. 4to, a fine ms., in splendid condition. [2872]

"Still anxious to secure your partial favour,
And not less anxious sure this night than ever,
A Prologue, Epilogue, or some such matter,
Would damp my bill, thought I, in nothing better.
So sought a Poet in his skyey dome,
Told him in admiration I was come;
Said, nothing like his works was ever printed;
And last my prologue business slily hinted.—
"O Ma'am, replied the silly, strutting creature,
Screwing each self-important, awkward feature,
Flatt'ry I hate, as I admire your taste,
At once so just, correct, profound & chaste."

"Huzza! Hodgson, we are going
Our embargoe's off at last
Favourable Breezes blowing
Bend the canvas oer the mast,
From aloft the signal's streaming
Hark! the farewell gun is fired,
Women screeching, Tars blaspheming,
Tell us that our time's expired."

2007 De Quincey (Thomas) A.L.S., 2 pp. 4to, Fox Ghyll, Dec. 22nd, 1823, a long, interesting, and very pathetic letter on his financial embarrassments, his Contributions to Magazines, and his habit of OPIUM EATING. [1030]

Speaking of a Bill he is unable to meet, he writes: "This is likely to turn out a prodigious evil to me - an evil beyond all calculation. For this bill's returning being an Ambleside one and from the circumstances attending it—will oblige me to leave the country without delay; whither—or in what direction—I hardly know: for I have not half a crown disposable for travelling; not to mention that, this opium to which I have necessarily resorted to enable me to bear loss of sleep—exertion—thro' accumulation of care and wretchedness, I am scarcely able to crawl; and therefore I fear cannot bear to travel ... In the case of the last bill I sank under the intolerable anxiety abt. its fate ... the consequence was that I was either unable to rise from my bed (unendurable anxiety forcing me into larger quantities of opium, and the opium soon reacting to aggravate the anxiety); or, when I could hold my head up, accomplished at the utmost ½ a page a day ... I will never give another bill as long as I live. During the last 2½ months I have never set my foot out of doors—I have refused to see every soul who called (3 nights ago I was "not at home" to Wordsworth and an old friend whom I had not seen for 5 or 6 years) ... I have hardly laid down my pen, on those days when I could hold it at all, except to groan and to stretch myself on the floor in the extremity of wretchedness ... such a misery, a misery without a respite, or a sabbath, has the Wandering Jew!"—etc.

Presented by Mrs. Comyns Carr.

2013 DICKENS (CHARLES) MEMORANDUM BOOK, CONTAINING 28 pp. OF HOLOGRAPH NOTES, consisting of outline sketches of characters, scenes, suggestions for plots, commencements of books, and general ideas for use when writing; the first page dated January, 1855, in Dickens's Autograph; 8vo. cloth, with inscription "To Mr. and Mrs. Comyns Carr, with the affectionate love of Kate Perugini, 1892," on flyleaf. [1424]

A MANUSCRIPT OF GREAT INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE, AS SHOWING THE AUTHOR'S METHOD OF WORKING; the notes are written in the familiar blue ink, to which Dickens has added, at various later dates, in black ink, the names of the books in which the ideas or incidents were incorporated: LITTLE DORRIT, TALE OF TWO CITIES, OUR MUTUAL FRIEND, HUNTED DOWN; there are also several pages of SURNAMES and CHRISTIAN NAMES, Dickens having ticked those off which he made use of. Many of the notes and "sets of circumstances" appear not to have been used, and were doubtless intended to have been incorporated in other books had the author lived longer. There is also a Cuttiug from a Newspaper on the "Education of Little Children. Terms 14 to 18 guineas per annum; no extras or vacations"—reminiscent of Dotheboy's Hall.

A very full description of the above will be found in Forster's Life of Dickens (1874), Vol. 3, pp. 245–266

"Dickens began the Book of Memoranda in January 1855, six months before the first page of Little Dorrit was written; I find no allusion leading me to suppose, except in one very doubtful instance, that he had made additions to its entries, or being in the habit of resorting to them, after the date of Our Mutual Friend. It seems to comprise that interval of ten years in his life. . . . It is very interesting in this book, last legacy as it is of the literary remains of such a writer, to compare the way in which fancies were worked out with their beginnings entered in its pages."—Forster's Life of Dickens.

Presented by Henry Arthur Jones, Esq.

2014 Dickens (Charles) A.L.S., 3 pp. 8vo, Folkestone, Aug. 14th, 1855, to Miss Harriet Parr, with reference to a Story submitted by her for publication in Household Words. [2782]

"... I read your tale with the strongest emotion, and with a very exalted admiration of the great power displayed in it. ... It moved me more than I can express to you. I wrote to Mr. Wills that it had completely unsettled me for the day. ... It so happens that I had been some days at work upon a character externally like the aunt."—etc.

Presented by Henry F. Dickens, Esq., K.C.

2015 DICKENS (CHARLES) A.L.S., 4 pp. 8vo (very closely written), Baltimore, Feb. 11th, 1868, to THE SAME, a VERY LONG AND INTERESTING LETTER, the first $2\frac{3}{4}$ pp. entirely devoted to instructions respecting the formation and management of a CRICKET CLUB, offering to become Chairman of same, "to overlook its business affairs," and subscribe £5 a year towards its expenses; the latter part of the letter relating to the READINGS. [547]

"... I should never have made my success in life if I had been shy of taking pains, or if I had not bestowed upon the least thing I have ever undertaken, exactly the same attention and care that I have bestowed upon the greatest. Do everything at your best. It was but last year that I set too and learned every word of my Readings, and from ten years ago till last night, I have never read to an audience but I have watched for an opportunity of striking out something better somewhere. Look at such of my Manuscripts as are in the Library at Gad's, and think of the patient hours devoted year after year to single lines. ... The weather is very severe here, and the work is very hard. Dolby [his Manager] having been violently pitched into by the Mayor of Newhaven (a town at which I am to read next week) has gone off bodily this morning with defiant written instructions from me to inform the said Mayor that if he fail to make out his case, he (Dolby) is to return all the money taken, and to tell him that I will not set foot in his jurisdiction, whereupon the Newhaven people will probably fall upon the Mayor in his turn, and lead him a pleasant life."

"The letter to Miss Parr is, as Mr. H. A. Jones expresses it, 'a revelation, quite unneeded, of its writer's constant largeness of heart and mind.' . . . In the letter to myself my Father is laying down the principles which should guide me in the formation of our Village Cricket Club at Gad's Hill. It is also of great interest, not only as shewing his strong democratic views with regard to the way in which the working men in the village should be approached by me, but also because it emphasizes his belief that success in life can only be attained by unremitting toil and incessant hard work. HENRY F. DICKENS."

2016 Dickens (Charles) A.L.S., 1½ pp. 8vo, Gravesend, April 16th, 1857, to Dr. Madge, St. Pancras Literary Institution. [2230]

". . . Before accepting the compliment which you have the kindness to propose to me, I would desire to be better acquainted with some details of the Institution, and the facilities it affords for a fusion of several classes on a good, common, mutual ground. This appears to me to be one of the highest uses of such establishments, and one of their most ordinary failures."—etc.

Presented by Miss Alice L. Bird.

2017 Dickens (Charles) A.L.S., initials, 1 p. 8vo, Gad's Hill, June 12th, 1857, with interesting references to GAD'S HILL and DOUGLAS JERROLD. [1025]

". . . This summer retreat (on the spot where Falstaff ran away) will be my home untill the winter, probably; but I shall be often in town, and will come to you one day. . . . nothing but the death of poor Jerrold prevents my naming the day now;—I hope to do his family some good."

2019 Dickens (Charles) A.L.S., 1½ pp. 8vo, Gad's Hill Place, Oct. 7th, 1867, to his son HENRY F. DICKENS, an interesting letter respecting his SECOND AMERICAN TOUR, etc. [547]

". . . I sail for America, from Liverpool on Saturday the 9th of November. My Cunard ship is the Cuba, and I have one of the officer's cabins on deck. I hope to return by the First Cunard ship in May. It will be a very fatiguing business, but I could not reconcile it to myself to neglect so promising a prospect of being handsomely remunerated for hard work. . . .

Your affectionate Father
(I can't write the word!)
Charles Dickens."

2021 DICKENS (CHARLES) A.L., 1 p. 8vo [to JOHN FORSTER], a brief, hurried letter, of great interest in connexion with the READING of LITTLE DOMBEY. [547]

"We had an amazing scene of weeping and cheering, at St. Martin's Hall, last night. I read the Life and Death of Little Dombey, and certainly I never saw a crowd so resolved into one creature before, or so stirred by anything. I tell you this my dear fellow, because I know you will read it with interest. Mary (now my housekeeper) Katie, and Georgina, send their kindest and best love. I cordially embrace you. You may be sure that I shall always deserve your steady confidence, and always be your affectionate and attached friend Charles Dickens."

2023 Dickens (Charles) A.L.S., 2 pp. 8vo, Gad's Hill Place, Aug. 28th, 1859, to Mrs. Howitt; an interesting letter mentioning the TALE OF TWO CITIES, and speaking of his intention to write his AUTOBIOGRAPHY. [1450]

". . . I am delighted, what you wrote me the Tale of Two Cities, and I hope that you will be confirmed in that opinion when you can better perceive my design in seeing it all together, instead of reading it in what Carlyle (writing to me of it, with great enthusiasm) calls "Teaspoons." "

"By the hoof of the Wild Goat uptossed,
From the Cliff where She lay in the Sun,
Fell the Stone
To the Tarn where the Daylight is lost;
So She fell from the light of the Sun
And alone.
* * * *
Oh Thou who hast builded the World!
Oh Thou who hast lighted the Sun!
Oh Thou who hast darkened the Tarn!
Judge Thou
The Fault of the Stone that was hurled
By the Goat from the Light of the Sun,
As She sinks in the Mire of the Tarn,
Even now—even now—even now!"

2088 LAMB (CHARLES) A.L.S., 2 pp. 8vo. [Nov. 9th, 1811], to Mr. Morgan, an amusing letter, unpublished. [956]

"The dark November fogs are come, Night travelling with flambeaux is expensive; without dangerous. Add to this the migratory Actress has not taken her flight, and in all birdish probability sets out to-morrow. . . . Meantime where are my Books? Written in confusion from my Inn in the Temple, surrounded by mother daughter brother and dog. . . . Mary has been staying at Capt. Burneys 3 or 4 days for quiet."—etc.

Presented by Sir Algernon Methuen, Bart.

2092 LAMB (CHARLES) A.L., 3 pp. 4to (end of the letter with signature cut off), to Mr. and Mrs. Clarkson, a pathetic letter with reference to one of the SISTER'S MENTAL ATTACKS. [143]

". . . My sister was tolerably quiet until we got to Chelmsford, where she began to be very bad indeed, as your friend William Knight and his family can tell you when you see them. What I should have done without their kindness I don't know, but among other acts of great attention, they provided me with a waistcoat to confine her arms, by the help of which we got through the rest of our journey. But sadly tired and miserably depressed she was before we arrived at Hoxton . . . I shall be very careful how I take her so far from home again . . . She tells me something about having given away one of my coats to your servant. It is a new one and perhaps may be of small use to him. If you can get it for me again I shall be willing to give him a compensation. I shall also be much obliged by your sending in a parcel all the manuscripts, books, etc., she left behind. I want in particular the Dramatic Extracts, as my purpose is to make use of the remainder of my holidays in completing them at the British Museum—which will be employment and money in the end."—etc.

Presented by Sir Algernon Methuen, Bart.

2093 Lamb (Mary) A.L.S., 2 pp. 8vo, at Mr. Coston's, No. 14, Kingsland Road, Dalston, Thursday morning. [143]

"The kind interest you took in my perplexities of yesterday makes me feel that you will be well pleased to hear I got through my complicated business far better than I had ventured to hope I should do."—etc.

Presented by Mrs. Russell Reid.

2094 Landseer (Sir Edwin) A.L.S., 4 pp. 8vo, July 31st, 1836, to Sir Francis Chantrey, acknowledging a cheque for One hundred and Fifty Guineas, and asking Sir Francis to "receive this as a stamped receipt," under which is a clever drawing of a dog delivering a sealed envelope at the door; framed. [3193]

Presented by Sir Sidney Colvin.

2095 Lang (Andrew) A.L.S., 3 pp. 8vo, St. Andrews, Dec. 17th [1894], to Sir Sidney Colvin, an interesting letter on the death of R. L. Stevenson. "There is nobody left fit to tie his shoe lace, and has not been since Thackeray died."—etc. [558]

Henley (W. E.) A.L.S., 2 pp. 8vo, Dec. 22nd, 1895, to the same, respecting R. L. Stevenson, asking if it was true that he did not get paid for the Vailima Letters, saying he saw the new "Child's Garden," which he "had heard too much about"; mentioning his own Edition of Burns, "Is it true that Arnold says "Burns is a Beast?" I don't dare do that, but I believe I shall never be welcome in Scotland more." [558] (2)

Presented by Miss J. M. Harkness.

2096 Lawrence (Sir Thomas) A.L.S., 3 pp. 4to, London, April 6th, 1787, to Miss Hartley, a most interesting letter on his first début in London, with criticisms on the works of Romney, Sir J. Reynolds, Sir B. West, and stating that he prefers Miss Hartley's Drawings to those of Gainsborough! [307]

". . . I have experienced great pleasure in viewing the Works of Sr. Ja., Mr. West, Mr. Romney, and Mr. Gainsborough. The former is I think evidently the first, yet there is a Classic Truth in Mr. R.'s Drawing, which I could wish united with that Elegance of Design, and Brilliancy of Effect, so exquisite in Sr Juas . . . Mr. Gainsborough's Paintings I very much admir'd, but could with pleasure leave the Portrait for the Landscape Painter, the latter is really delightful. Yet there is one Person, and in this case Flattery Madam cannot be laid to my charge, whom I name Miss Hartley, whose Drawings I prefer to him."—etc.

Presented by W. Blackburn, Esq.

2097 Leech (John) A.L.S., 4 pp. 8vo, 32, Brunswick Square, Feb. 29th, 1860, to Mrs. Blackburn, respecting Punch, and her Drawings—Hunt (W. Holman) 5 A.LL.S.—Landseer (Sir E.) A.L.S.—Millais (Sir John) 2 A.LL.S., all to the same, and relating to similar subjects. [1500] (9)

2099 LLOYD GEORGE (THE RT. HONBLE. D.) ORIGINAL HOLOGRAPH NOTES OF HIS FAMOUS SPEECH TO THE LABOUR REPRESENTATIVES, known as the "Go on or go under speech," 8 pp. 8vo, on official paper—L.S., 1½ pp. 4to, 10, Downing St., Feb. 8th, 1918, to the HON. SIR ARTHUR STANLEY, Chairman of the British Red Cross Society (the body of the letter typed). [2984]

"I understand that you would like to have the notes of my speech to the Labour representatives in order to sell them in aid of the Red Cross Fund. Although I can hardly think that the sum they will realise will very much augment that Fund, yet I am only too glad to be of any little assistance to your Organisation.

I would like to take this opportunity of expressing my appreciation of the splendid work which has been accomplished by the Red Cross Society since the very beginning of the War. The suffering they have alleviated; the precious lives they have saved; the magnitude and the quality of the task which they have fulfilled; and the benefits conferred by them upon the State and upon humanity, have earned for them the thanks of the Nation. They have my deepest admiration, respect and gratitude for what they have done and are doing, and my earnest wish for success in their future efforts.

Ever sincerely,
D. Lloyd George."

2100 LOCKE (W. J.) SEPTIMUS, THE ORIGINAL HOLOGRAPH MS., 551 pp. 4to, signed, half morocco. [2263]

Presented by an Anonymous Donor.

2101 LONGFELLOW (H. W.) A.L.S., 4 pp. 8vo, Cambridge [Mass.], Nov. 29th, 1852, to Miss Eliza Cook, a very fine letter respecting TOM HOOD, and mentioning DICKENS. [706]

"It gives me sincere pleasure to add my name to the list of subscribers for Hood's Monument, as you request in your friendly note . . . Do not weigh my admiration for Hood's genius by the amount of my subscription. That must be estimated by a very different scale of weights and measures.

Dear Hood, I should say instead of Poor Hood! For he who wrote 'The Song of the Shirt' and the 'Bridge of Sighs,' is very dear to every human heart.

Poor Mrs. Hood and the children, who have lost him! They will have forgotten the stranger who called one October morning some years ago, with Dickens, and were hospitably entertained by them. But I remember the visit, and the pale face of the Poet, and the house in St. John's Wood."—etc.

Presented by Miss F. M. Peard.

2102 Longfellow (H. W.) 2 A.LL.S. (one initials) Oct. 8th, 1872, and April 16th, 1877, 4 pp.—LAFAYETTE (Marquis de) A.L.S., 1 p. 4to, Paris, Jan. 1834, to JOSEPH HUME, M.P. [873] (2)

2105 LOWELL (JAMES RUSSELL) Six A.LL.S., 19 pp. 8vo, Nov. 16th, 1884, to April 27th, 1890, to Mrs. Clifford, the two last dated from Elmwood, Cambridge, Mass.; all but one being very long and interesting letters full of gossip about Nature, Philosophy and Books, mentioning KEATS, WORDSWORTH, TENNYSON'S BECKET, BROWNING, SCOTT'S RED GAUNTLET, etc., with a most interesting appreciation of KIPLING, and a forecast of his subsequent fame, and an amusing adverse criticism of the Lord Mayor's Show, etc. [1440]

"Yes, I have read Kipling's Stories and with real pleasure, I read them while I was still in bed and under the spell of opium and so was adopted into their orientalism. Some of his verses, too, I liked, especially the Omar Khayamish at the head of the last chapter. I find something startlingly vernacular in Oriental poetry (which I know only through translations, mainly German), as if I had lived some former and forgotten life in the East. How potent is this oriental blood—in Napoleon, in Goethe, in Heine, in Victor Hugo, in Browning, to go no further back! In Montaigne? probably. In Dante? possibly. . . I have hopes of the volume Mr. Kipling seems to promise us in that last chapter."—etc.

2121 MEREDITH (GEORGE) A.L.S., 4 pp. 4to, Box Hill, April 14th, 1909, to The Editor of The Times, a SUPERB EXAMPLE, being his EULOGY ON SWINBURNE. [1974]

"To-morrow (this day for your readers) Earth will take to her bosom the most spontaneous singer of all the English children. Song was his natural voice . . . We have the example of Rossetti's writing to the editor of a weekly paper in praise of verses he had read by chance in his columns. Tennyson in the height of his fame could write of envy of a youngster's first effort. It happened that he was expected one day on a visit to me . . . at last he appeared waving the white sheet of what seemed to be a pamphlet. He greeted me with a triumphant spout of a stanza, new to my ears. This was Fitzgerald's Omar Khayam . . . Suddenly Swinburne ran upstairs, and I had my anticipations . . . In an hour he had finished thirteen stanzas of his Laus Veneris . . . Those who follow this great poet to his grave may take to heart that the name of Swinburne is one to shine star-like in English Literature, a peer among our noblest."

"We who have seen Italia in the throes,
Half risen but to be hurled to the ground, and now
Like a ripe field of wheat where once drove plough,
All bounteous as she is fair, we think of those
Who blew the breath of life into her frame:
Cavour, Mazzini, Garibaldi: Three:
Her Brain, her Soul, her Sword; and set her free
From ruinous discords, with one lustrous aim."

2184 STEVENSON (ROBERT LOUIS) A.L.S., "ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON," 7½ pp. 8vo, Barmouth, Tuesday [with daily additions till the following Sunday, Sep., [1874], to Mrs. Sitwell] a long and REMARKABLY FINE LETTER, giving an account of his daily life; with a most interesting reference to DICKENS'S CHRISTMAS BOOKS; partly unpublished. [560]

"I wonder if you ever read Dickens's Christmas Books? I don't know that I would recommend you to read them, because they are too much perhaps. I have only read two of them yet, and I have cried my eyes out, and had a terrible fight not to sob. But O, dear God, they are good—and I feel so good after them, and would do anything, yes and shall do anything, to make it a little better for people—I wish I could lose no time; I want to go out and comfort someone; I shall never listen to the nonsense they tell one, about not giving money—I shall give money; not that I haven't done so always, but I shall do it with a high hand now. Oh what a jolly thing it is for a man to have written books like these books, and just filled people's hearts with pity. . . . My father is such fun here. He is always slipping about into the drawing room, and speaking to all the girls, and telling them God knows what about us all. My mother and I are the old people who sit aloof, I receive him as a sort of prodigal, when he comes back to us and listen indulgently to what he has to tell."—etc.

"Madonna, I am in a somewhat curious humour, as this way of writing indicates. God the Lord has been pleased to work a miracle for me once again; once again, I am perfectly careless about life, God, death, immortality, fame, virtue, and company. . . . There is only one very good thing in the world: The acting of Sarah Bernhardt. I beg your pardon, there is another: Pierre Véron's "Panthéon de Poche." I recognise also the merit of cold fish à l'huile, and Roussillon wine for breakfast. . . . I like John Racine however; the noise is very pleasing and so unintelligent and soothing as a mill wheel; occasionally too there are verses of a dignity! Verses with Versailles wigs—pageant verses—like a Roman Triumph. . . . my only object is to fill up the geometrical figure of my letter. Foolish . . . nearly as foolish as a desire for a Rhine frontier."—etc.

2186 Stevenson (R. L.) A.L.S., initials "R. L. S.," 4 pp. 8vo., Tuesday [Swanston, Tuesday, April 1875, to the same], partly unpublished. [560]

". . . I have been reading such a lot of Law, and it seems to take away the power of writing from me . . . C. S. has lost the chance with Stephen for my story, as I hear he is going abroad. And what do you think of Henley's hospital verses, they were to have been dedicated to me, but Stephen wouldn't allow it, said it would be pretentious . . . I think sometimes that "something" (in Micawber's phrase) will turn up "for humanity" . . . O—here's a gem for you. An old godly woman predicted the end of the world, because the seasons were becoming undistinguishable; my cousin Dora objected that last winter had been pretty well marked. "Yes, my dear," replied the soothsayess, "but I think you'll find the summer will be rather coamplicated." "

2188 Stevenson (R. L.) A.L.S., "R. L. Stevenson," 4 pp. 8vo, Advocates' Library, Edinburgh [1875, to the same] partly unpublished. [560]

". . . I have fallen in love with the Charles of Orleans period and cannot get enough of it. I see six essays at least, on single characters, Charles, René of Anjou, Jacques Cœur, Villon, Louis XI, Joan of Arc. Would not that be a jolly book? I do not propose to write any of them just now, but study the period quietly—It suits me better than the Reformation, because—well, because it's more romantic . . . not such a monstrous large order."—etc.

". . . I can't get away, that is absolutely prevented by the state of my purse and my debts, which I may say, are red like crimson . . . Yesterday I was twenty-five; so please wish me many happy returns—directly. This one was not *un*happy, anyway. I have got back a good deal into my old random, little-thought way of life; and do not care whether I read, write, speak, or work . . . I'm going to trust in providence about work. If I could get one or two pieces I hate out of my way all would be well."—etc.

". . . I have a goad in my flesh continually, pushing me to work, work, work. I have an essay pretty well through for Stephen; a story 'The Sire de Malétroits Mousetrap,' with which I shall try Temple Bar; another story in the clouds, 'The Stepfather's Story,' most pathetic work of high morality or immorality . . . also an Essay on the 'Two St. Michael's Mounts,' historical and picturesque . . . I might throw in the Bass Rock, and call it 'Three Sea Fatalities' . . . I'm glad you liked Villon . . . on the whole it seemed pretty vivid and the features strongly marked."

2191 STEVENSON (R. L.) A.L.S., 4 pp. 8vo, 17, Heriot's Row, Edinburgh [May, 1878, to the same], a long and interesting letter respecting his plans for a NOVEL, partly unpublished. [560]

". . . On Leslie Stephen's advice, I gave up the idea of essays. He said he didn't imagine I was rich enough for such an amusement . . . I have Villon to do for the same magazine [the Cornhill], but God knows when I'll get it done, for ——

——drums, trumpets——I'm engaged upon—trumpets, drums—a novel! THE HAIR TRUNK; OR THE IDEAL COMMONWEALTH. It is a most absurd story of a lot of young Cambridge fellows who are going to found a new Society, with no ideas on the subject, and nothing but Bohemian tastes in place of ideas . . . the trunk is the fun of it—everybody steals it . . . The first scene where they make their grand schemes and get drunk, is supposed to be very funny by Henley. I really saw him laugh over it till he cried."—etc.

2192 STEVENSON (R. L.) A.L.S., initials "R. L. S.," 1½ pp. 8vo [Jan. 19th, 1879], an interesting unpublished letter, sent with the last Act of "DEACON BRODIE." [560]

". . . Infamous pen that was. Do you know I think I'm a man of genius. The Rogue Devyil stuff is really extraordinary. I don't know how it may get written; but the conception is the most daring and human I remember. There is--mind you, seriously—nothing in Shakespeare to compare with the second and third acts . . . I've dyspepsia and walk the hills in the sun with the old shepherd all afternoon, to devote my evenings to the Drayma of the future."--etc.

2193 STEVENSON (ROBERT LOUIS] A.L.S., initials "R.L.S.," 2 pp. 8vo, Tuesday [Edinburgh, 1874, to Mrs. Sitwell], an amusing letter on the "profession" of dying. [560]

"You might have written to me ere now, Madonna; it will be a week to-morrow since my last. But I am long suffering, forgiving even to the third and fourth transgression those that love me, and showing mercy unto thousands of them that hate me . . . I have made a prose poem out of some sentences I wrote on Saturday, however you will be pleased to hear that it is very bad . . . I have had a touch of gout again . . . which looks deplorably constitutional. N'importe. The malady is eminently aristocratic; and dying, Madonna, is our profession, à nous tous. Let us accomplish it with dignity and a good round royal manner withall . . . I am speaking of a remote future, and don't mean to die shortly."

2194 STEVENSON (ROBERT LOUIS) ORIGINAL HOLOGRAPH MS. of an UNPUBLISHED POEM of 31 lines [written in 1874 or early in 1875], signed, 1 p. folio. [681]

"I do not foar to own me kin
To the glad clods in which spring flowers begin;
Or to my brothers the great trees
That speak with pleasant voices in the breeze,
That are loud talkers with the winds that pass;
Or to my sister, the sweet grass.

Of such I am; of such my body is
That thrills to reach its lips to kiss,
That gives and takes with wind and sun and rain
And feels keen pleasure to the point of pain."

2195 STEVENSON (R. L.) A.L.S., initials "R.L.S.," 3½ pp. 4to [Barmouth, March, 1886], to Mrs. Fleeming Jenkin, respecting his Memoir of her husband, his love for MUSIC, etc., with four bars of a Musette of Lully's. [1814]

"The gavotte is beautiful and pretty hard I think and very much of the period, and at the end of it this musette enters with the most really thrilling effect of simple beauty—O—it's first rate. I am quite mad over it . . . I write all morning, come down and never leave the piano till about five; write letters, dine, get down about eight, and never leave the piano till I go to bed. This is a fine life."—etc.

2197 STEVENSON (R. L.) A.L.S., initials "R.L.S.," 7¼ pp. 4to, April 15 or 16 "(the hour not being known)," 1887, to the same, a long and most interesting letter, enumerating many various reasons why he should write the Memoir of FLEEMING JENKIN, and the objections against his doing so. [1814]

"... The Curtiss women are still miserable prisoners: no one dare buy their farm of them, all the manhood of England and the world stands aghast before a threat of murder. (1) Now my work can be done anywhere; hence I can take up without loss an Irish farm and live on though not in it ... (2) If I should be killed, there are a good many people who would feel it; writers are so much in the public eye, that a writer being murdered would attract attention, throw a bull's eye light upon this cowardly business. (3) I am not unknown in the States, from where the funds come that pay for these brutalities; to some extent my death (if I should be killed) would tell there ... If I should be knocked on the head, as these poor Irish promise, how little any one would care. It will be a smile at a thousand breakfast tables... Here is a great wrong ... a growing wrong ... a wrong founded on crime ... crime that the Government cannot prevent... that it occurs to no man to defy ... but it has occurred to me ... being a known person, some will notice my defiance ... being a writer I can make people notice it."—etc.

"I feel fit for little else besides prayer; I cannot be comforted; my wits are frozen. O I say, don't you wish we were all somewhere else? It happened the other day that a profound truth fell from my pen—I think that is a good phrase ... life being an amusement totally unsuitable for winter. On that phrase I place a claim to immortality ... How can you mind about Shelley? You wouldn't if you were as cold as I am.

Yours very sincerely

2199 STEVENSON (R. L.) A.L.S., "ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON," 3 pp. 8vo, Saranac Lake, Adirondacks [1887], to the same, speaking of his reception in AMERICA. [1814]

"... They made a great run over me here, they also offered me much money, a great deal more than my works are worth; I took some of it and was greedy and hasty, and am now very sorry. I have done with big prices from now out. Wealth, and self respect seem in my case, to be strangers ... I am strangely disquieted on all political matters, and I do not know if it is "the signs of the times" or the signs of my own time of life. But to me the sky seems black both in France and England, and only clear in America."—etc.

2200 STEVENSON (R. L.) A.L.S., "ROBERT LOUIS STEVENSON," 5 pp. 8vo, Bournemouth, Jan. 2nd, 1886, to James Payne, a very interesting letter respecting the locality and characters in his STORY OF THE BROWN BOX. [2228]

"... The hospital was a point in my tale; but there is a house on each side. Now the true house is the one before the hospital; is that No. 11? If not, what do you complain of? If it is, how can I help what is true? Everything in the Dynameter is not true; but the story of the Brown Box is, in almost every particular; I lay my hand on my heart and swear to it. It took place in that house in 1884, and if your daughter was in that house at the time, all I can say is she must have kept very bad company."—etc.

"... You say, dear Madam, you are good enough to say—it is a "real pleasure" to you to bring my book within the reach of the blind. Conceive then what it is to me! and believe me sincerely yours Robert Louis Stevenson."

I was a barren tree before
I blew a quenchèd coal,
I could, not on their midnight shore,
The lonely blind console.

A moment, lend your hand—I bring
My sheaf for you to bind—
And you can teach my words to sing
In the darkness of the blind.

"I am grateful to you for your book which contains an analysis of In Memoriam. I like this much better than Mrs. Gatty's ... which is too personal to please me ... I really could almost fancy that p. 95 was written by myself ... I should say, as Napoleon is reported to have said, when some one was urging upon him how much more glorious was the immortality of a great artist, a painter for instance, than that of a great soldier—he asked how long the best-painted and best-preserved picture would last, "about 800 years."—"Bah! telle immortalite.""

". . . I shall go to Ireland by Wales, wh. country I find lies in the way of the former land, and which I may as well discover en route. I wish I could have stopped to be one of the welcomers to Dickens—to whom I needn't ask you on his return to present my respectful homages. What do you think? Such has been the influence of time and example upon me, that I got your friend Baruct's poems, for the purpose of praising them, but this, alas, is humpawsable; never mind, I'll wait until he does somethiug good and then you shall see."—etc.

Needless to point out the extraordinary combination of interest in the above Letter—Thackeray on his way to obtain material for his Irish Sketch Book, writing to Forster respecting Dickens's return from his first American Tour, which produced the American Notes.

. . . I am likely to do very well with the [Four] Georges—fire off tomorrow—every seat in the house taken—fire away four times in the course of the month pulling in an awful sum of money for those girls you're so good to. The welcome and friendliness of the people here touches me and gives a choky sort of feeling of gratitude—They have more tenderness than we have on our side . . . I have had one awful adventure and escape—last night at midnight Sir I got my key at the bar came into my sitting room and undressed, & was going to bed when—don't turn the page over abruptly but think what could have happened—when a smart voice from within cried out Georgy! . . I'd got into the second floor room by mistake—like Mr. Pickwick—I made a dash at my boots and other garments and fled—it's a mercy I'm here.

The above is written on pp. 3 & 4 of a letter to Thackeray, by an American boy, who proposes to "address a few of the wise of the present day" requesting them to find time "to open an occasional correspondence with me on some useful literary subject," and asking for Ruskin's address.—Thackeray writes, "Isn't this letter rich!"

2233 Wellesley (Marquis) Holograph Draft of a Letter written in his capacity of Foreign Secretary, 6¼ pp. folio, March, 1810, to Mr. Pinkney; of Great Interest and Importance, respecting the Suspension of Intercourse between the British Envoy in America and the Government of the United States, with many corrections and erasures. [The passages quoted in square brackets have been deleted.] [3772]

"... His Majesty commands me to express his concern, that the official intercourse between his Majesty's Minister in America and the Govt. of the United States should have been interrupted, before it was possible for his Majesty by any interposition of his authority, to manifest his sincere disposition to maintain the relations of amity with the United States by every domonstration of respect and good will

"The official correspondence between Mr Jackson and Mr Smith has been submitted to H. Majesty's consideration

"[Without attempting to question the sense entertained by the American Govt. of Mr. Jackson's intention] I am commanded by His Majesty to inform you, that I have received from Mr. Jackson the most positive assurances that it was not his purpose to give offence to the Government of the United States by any expression contained in his letters, or by any part of his conduct

"If however either the expressions or conduct of His Majesty's

Minister in America had appeared to the Government of the United States to be exceptional, it would have been consistent with the respect due to His Majesty, as well as with the honor of the American Government to have conveyed in the first instance to His Majesty a formal complaint against his Minister, & to have desired such redress as might have been deemed suitable to the nature of the offence

"This course of proceeding would have enabled His Majesty to have offered [through the regular channel] such [conciliatory] reasonable explanations, as might have precluded the inconvenience which must always arise from the formal suspension of intercourse between friendly Powers

"Under the present circumstances it is His Majesty's most anxious desire that the events, which have occurred should lead to such a result as may tend to the [speedy] renewal of intercourse without injury to any of the Parties concerned, or to the character of either Govt. [With these views His Majesty has directed Mr Jackson to offer the Govt. of the United States, such explanations of his conduct and intentions as His Majesty trusts will satisfy that Government, that Mr Jackson did not intend to convey offence by any of his expressions or acts]

"The justice which is due to the integrity, zeal and ability of a faithful servant, would not permit His Majesty to pursue any course, which might injure the fair character of long and honorable public services. Nor would the Government of the United States expect such a sacrifice of His Majesty's dignity and honor."—etc.

2236 WELLINGTON (F.-M. DUKE OF) A.L.S., 2 pp. 4to, July 2nd, 1815, to Field Marshal Lord Beresford; a MAGNIFICENT SPECIMEN, written a fortnight after, and CONTAINING an ACCOUNT of the BATTLE of WATERLOO, and references to the Spanish Medals. [2794]

"... You will have heard of our Battle of the 18th. Never did I see such a pounding Metal. Both sides were what the boxers call gluttons. Napoleon did not manœuvre at all. He just moved forward in the old style in columns, and was driven off in the old style. The only difference was that he moved Cavalry with his Infantry & supported both with enormous quantities of Artillery. I had the Infantry for some time in Squares, and we had the French Cavalry walking about amongst us as if they had been our own. I never saw the British Infautry behave so well.

Bony is now off I believe to Rochefort to go to America. The Army about 40 or 50 thousand men are in Paris; Blucher on the left of the line; & I with my right in front of St. Denis & the left upon the Bois de Bondy. They have fortified St. Denis & Mon-marte very strongly. The Canal de L'Oureq is filled with water & they have a parapet & Batteries on the bank. So that I don't believe we can attack this line. However I'll see."

"Among all the learned disquisitions and fanciful rhapsodies about this great battle, the Duke's simple homely description of it to his old comrade in arms, Lord Beresford, condenses the whole affair into a single paragraph."—MAXWELL'S LIFE OF WELLINGTON.
